W. P. WALTON.

Under an act permitting him to do so, Gov. Buckner in December last appointed R. A. Miller a special auditor to examine into the accounts, modes of purchase, character of expenses and the general condition of affairs at the three lunatic asylums in the State. He has just completed his work and judging from the report he did it thoroughly and well. He finds that all of them are managed in a slipshod manner and that commissioners and superintendents neglect their duties in many instances and transgress their powers in numerous others, such as erecting buildings, borrowing money, buying land and involving the State in indebtedness they have no warrant for creating. The management of the Western Asylum at Hopkinsville has had the reputation of being the best, yet $50,000 has been expended in building outages that are not necessary; the commissioners pay $50 a year for a room to meet in in town, when one is provided at the Asylum; $2,250 has been expended on a country road without authority, while the superintendent at lives in Hopkinsville and draws his table supplies from the Asylum. The pay roll of employees amounts to about $2,500 a month and the steward's expenses were $91,252.35 last year, or an average of $162.55 for the 530 patients. The Central, at Anchorage, is the largest asylum in the State and the worst managed. The commissioners do their work in a perfunctory way and permit and create abuses that are the grant. A lot of medical students are permitted to board and have their washing done free at the institution, for their "practice" on the patients, for which the State pays a board of surgeons; the farm is badly managed and unproductive; the land was bought at fabulous prices and the commissioners sell goods to the Asylum, contrary to law. The pay roll is $3,000 monthly and the 738 patients cost the State $183.93 each a year. The Eastern, at Lexington, is recovering from the differences that at one time impaired its effectiveness, and while there are abuses, they are gradually being remedied. The employees draw $250 a month and an average of $107.35 is drawn for the 635 patients. Horses, carriages and drivers are kept for the officers of each institution without warrant of law. The expenses of each are largely in excess of what they ought to be and the governor thinks that a Commissioner of Public Institutions ought to be appointed to see after the welfare of the institutions and hold the officers to a strict accountability in the disbursement of the State funds. Many thousands could be saved annually and the patients still receive better care and attention.

The declaration by James G. Blaine that he will not permit his name to go before the republican convention assembled to nominate a candidate for President, is not received with that degree of confidence that the intemperance of a public man should inspire. He has written letters before as Mr. Mulligan and most of the voters in this country will remember, and he is too slick a citizen generally to be taken absolutely at his word. This seems to be the impression of a majority of the leading men of both parties, who know the writer to be devoid of the attributes of sincerity. Mr. Blaine is evidently animated by one of two considerations. He is either making a big bid for the nomination or else has sense enough to see that he nor any other republican can be elected. He is the biggest and brainiest man of his party and if he cannot win the chances of its success are slim indeed.

SENATOR LEAVY put up a pitiful mouth to Judge Morton and said he was only joking with the jury about hanging that old woman Monday, that he made his remark under the freedom of the occasion and did not realize its probable effect until afterwards, that he sincerely regrets it and that he has the highest respect for the courts in general and Judge Morton's in particular. The judge took the matter under advisement and permitted the senator to return to making laws. He will probably be let off with a reprimand and an injunction not to get so drunk next time that he will not know what he is about.

SOMETIME ago we had occasion in comparison to refer to the beauty of Gen. Ben Harrison, who presides over the destiny of the Henderson News. It pleased the old man wonderfully and he showed his appreciation of the spirit of the song, "I tickled Tena and Tena tickled me" by copying our article and retorting: "The above was intoned by Col. Walton, the A. Louis of the State press, who is so killing beautiful, so exquisitely perfect in form and feature that all the 'female winning' in his halfbreed have gone plumb crazy about him." Such is such.

FADON credits the remark "The people be 4-4" to Jay Gould. For the sake of historical correctness we call his attention to the error and state that Vanderbilt is due this expression of the contempt with which the very rich regard the ordinary run of their fellow men.

—The strikes of 1887 cost $13,000,000.

THE Blair Educational Subsidy bill is not going to pass the republican Senate with any degree of unanimity. Senator Plumb, Ingalls' yokefellow from Kansas, made a speech against the bill Tuesday and urged among other reasons why it should not pass that the basis upon which the money was to be distributed was a false one, and because the State powers and the Federal powers would conflict and destroy those possessed by the State. Besides he did not want Kansas taxed to educate the children of another State equally as able to educate its own children. Gen. Hawley, another republican Senator, also spoke against the bill and characterized it as one to promote mendacity, to cultivate beggars, and declaring the failure of local self-government in one of the supreme interests of the people. It falsely declares bankruptcy of States which before our very eyes are rich and growing.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer feels that the wind is in the right direction and says: "The prospects of the National democratic party never looked brighter than now. In the great contest of November we shall carry not only the South—which Mr. Chanler's foolish denouncing of the bloody shirt has made as 'solid' as a rock—but we are reasonably certain of also carrying New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana, which will give us nearly a score more of electoral votes than are needed. But the present prospect is that California, Colorado, Nevada, and even Illinois and Michigan, may be added to the victorious democratic list. Nor is Ohio likely to be considered as outside of the doubtful column. The republican problems are on the run. The thing to do is to keep them running."

Wm. Grover Cleveland added to the interest and admiration in which he is held by the country at large by taking to himself the clearing Frankie Edson as his well-to-do wife, we heard an observer of events remark, "It will be just like the luck that has always attended Mr. Cleveland, for Frankie to become a member just in time to be a big winning card in his second election." But from all we can learn the prospect is not flattering for the fulfillment of the prophecy. Grover is solid enough however without the appearance of the little baby of his own, as is attested by the fact that over 2,500 have been named for him; yet the arrival of a Grover, Jr. might believethings a good deal.

THE appointment of the Hon. W. P. Tamm as Kentucky's member of the National Congressional Committee, is not likely to inspire enthusiasm, especially since the distinguished gentleman saw fit to fight with all the force of his mountain eloquence the resolution before the State convention to endorse the administration of Mr. Cleveland. The appointment is about the worst that could have been made, seeing that the renunciation of Cleveland is a foregone conclusion.

THE printers on the Courier-Journal and Times, who walked out because Mr. Haldeman wanted to take a hand in the management of his property, failing in their boycott, have now issued a circular saying that if these two papers do not return to union offices they will henceforth and eternally vote the republican ticket. That will be too bad, but we suppose both Mr. Haldeman and the party can pull through without them.

THE people at Springfield, Ill., can now enjoy the luxury of clean clothes without much outlay for washing. A laundry war is raging there and shirts are cleaned at two cents and collars and cuffs at one cent a dozen. The individual caught with a dirty shirt on now ought to be promptly executed.

THE new capitol of Texas is about completed and is said to be one of the finest red granite structures in the world. It cost $1,000,000 and was paid for by an appropriation of 3,000,000 acres of land to the contractors. It is to be formally dedicated in May.

THE Blair bill passed the Senate Wednesday afternoon 30 to 20, both our Kentucky Senators voting against it. A number of republicans and a few weak-kneed democrats voted for the subsidy.

LEGISLATIVE ACTS.

A bill passed the House to prohibit the use of intoxicating liquors in Rowan.

Senator Rigney wants to require all dealers in cartridges to procure a license to do so.

The patent medicine bill was killed by the Senate committee as it should have been.

But in days of the constitutional session is left and what has the legislature done besides draw its per diem and pass a few local bills?

Mr. Cooper says that many of the idiots now drawing pay from the State are superior in intellect to a majority of the members of the legislature, and he ought to know.

Lawyer Davison has offered bills to incorporate the Highland & Waynesburg Turnpike Company, and to regulate the sale of spirituous, vinous and malt liquors on physicians' prescriptions in Lincoln county.

The bill increasing the compensation of circuit judges was before the Senate Wednesday and received 16 affirmative votes to 11 in the negative. Lieut. Gov. Bryn ruled that the bill was lost, as it had not received a constitutional majority.

—The House has passed the bills to increase the city tax of Stanford to 50 cts. and for the benefit of the Turnersville, McKinney & Colley's Mill Turnpike Road Company.

—The House has passed Mr. Anderson's bill to declare an act, entitled "An act to regulate the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors in this commonwealth," approved May 23, 1874, in force in Civil District No. 3, in Garrard county.

Gov. Buckner did not deem the restrictions imposed upon the notary and and to reduce into one the charters of Paris, Georgetown & Frankfort Railway Company, and changing the name thereof to the Kentucky Midland Railroad Company, sufficient, and he accordingly sent it back vetoed.

COMPRESSED NEWS.

Over 6,000 bills have been introduced in Congress this session.

—The maiden sister of Collector Brewster, Miss Elizabeth, died on the 10th.

—The Chinese have just celebrated the 3778th anniversary of their government.

—Chief of Police Whallen has been appointed to the United States Secret Service at a good salary.

W. H. Roswell, president of the Northern Bank of Kentucky, died at Lexington, aged 58 years.

—Thomas J. Pickett, 70 years of age, cut his throat from ear to ear with a bar-knife at Forestville, Ky.

—Powderly has ordered the 3,000 striking shoemakers at Cincinnati to return to work or be suspended.

—Alonso Hally, a negro ravisher, was taken from the Pickensville Jail and lynched by a mob of 60 men.

—A postoffice has been established at Happy Hollow, Putnam county, and Levin Williams appointed postmaster.

—The Rowan county investigation shows that, out of 20 murders committed only one conviction has been secured.

—After 13 years' litigation an Albany estate has realized $5 cents apiece for the heirs. The lawyers got about $11,000 each.

—Steven Swift, aged 72, and a former prominent business man of Lexington, fell down a flight of stairs and killed himself.

—Addie Rayer, a good-looking white woman, aged 21 years, has been licensed to wed a negro named R. S. Turner, at Tiffin, O.

—Joe Blackburn's bill passed the House prohibiting pool-selling or book-making in Washington and Georgetown on races and base ball.

—Maxwell's father has arrived from England and is trying his best to save the neck of his son, but his labor is likely to go for his pains.

—The House Judiciary Committee has agreed to a favorable report on the resolution to change inauguration day to April 30 instead of March 4.

—Dr. Locke, the "Petroleum V. Nasby," of the press, died at Toledo of consumption. He accumulated over a million by the work of his pen.

—Ralph Lee, who shot his father-in-law, Banker Rowson, at Chicago, as he was coming out of the church, was given 18 months in the penitentiary.

—Seven negroes catching crabs and shrimp 60 miles below New Orleans, were drowned by their small boat being run over and sunk by the steamer Alvin.

—Samuel Clay, the largest land owner in the State, and probably the richest man, died in Bourbon Tuesday, aged 73. He owned 20,000 acres of land in his county and Clark.

—The contest over the will of the late W. C. DePaw, of New Albany, has been withdrawn by the other heirs agreeing to give Mrs. McIntosh, the disinherited daughter, $200,000.

—George W. Levi, recently sentenced to the Indiana State prison at Jeffersonville, has confessed to the commission of a crime for which Frank Nelson is serving a 21-year sentence.

—Oliver P. Tunnell, of York, Pa., shot his wife three times Wednesday, one of the shots tearing away her tongue. She may recover, but he did the work better for himself and saved the hangman a job.

—Seymour, republican, was elected over Breen, dem. labor, in the Marquette, Mich., district, by less than 100 majority, to succeed Moffatt, deceased. This is a democratic gain of about 1,000.

—Jesse Ray and Sid Shepherd, railroad laborers, quarrelled in Estill county and the former was killed by Shepherd, who escaped. Shepherd had served a term in the penitentiary for killing a boy with a stone.

—The longest railway anywhere operated by electricity is said to be a great success. It is in Richmond, Va., extending 12 miles, over steep grades and sharp curves, and is running profitably and untroubled.

—The derrick used in hoisting heavy girders to be used in the construction of the Union Elevated railroad of Brooklyn fell on a B'ld Avenue horse car, killing three men instantly and seriously injuring a dozen others.

—The Sub-Banking Committee has recommended a bill authorizing the issue of not more than $20,000,000 nor less than $20,000,000 of fractional currency in denominations of 5 cents, 10 cents, 25 cents and 50 cents.

—President Cleveland, accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland, Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Whitney, and Col. and Mrs. Lamont, will pay a flying visit to Florida next week, leaving Washington Tuesday and returning Saturday.

—The girl lion tamer, who entertained the people at Dublin by putting her head into a lion's mouth, will do so no more forever. The other day the animal closed down his massive jaws during the performance and bit her head off.

At Princeton, William Easton, fireman on the Ohio Valley railway, shot and instantly killed J. G. Daniels, a fireman on the Clarksville division of the L. & N. road and put a ball through the cap of one Hobson, who was with Daniels.

Bennie West, 16, and Biedie Hall 15 eloped from Shelby county and were married. The report fails to state whether their parents laid them across their laps and administered the needed paddling, but it is to be hoped that it was not omitted.

Two litigants, Lucas and Church, got tired of waiting for the lawyers and attempted to settle their little difficulty in a game of darts in the Frankfort court room. The judge failed to enforce their knock-down arguments and fined them $30 each for contempt.

—The Senate Committee on Claims reported favorable the bill to settle the celebrated Warren Mitchell cotton claim; the sum specified is $128,022.25. The value of 728 bales of cotton seized and sold at Savannah, Georgia, March 3, 1853. Louisville parties are the beneficiaries.

United States Marshal Gross, accompanied by a small army of deputies, has gone to Pikeville for the purpose of bringing the Hatfields to Louisville, Gov. Wilson, of West Virginia, has appointed Mr. J. W. St. Clair, ex-State Senator, to assist Hon. Eastace Gillson in defending the Hatfields.

—So it turns out that Gaidell was a rich man after all, his administrator having found stocks and bonds to his credit amounting to something like a quarter of a million. There is no denying the fact that christian statesmen in the Congress that sat in Washington between 1861 and 1880 walked in many money-making avenues not open to the vulgar herd. [Louisville Times.

RELIGIOUS.

Eld. Vancey's meeting in Bourbon closed with 16 additions.

—Seventy-one new members have been added to Rev. Allen Tupper's church since the beginning of the Moody meetings.

—"Looking on Sunday is a necessity. I am like an engine and have to be fired up with warm food on Sunday," says Moody.

—Lent commenced Wednesday and will last till April 1st. There are so few Catholics and Episcopalians here that the season is hardly recognized.

—Rev. Eugene Snodgrass, formerly of Rockcastle, has accepted the appointment of missionary to Japan from the Christian Church, and will go thither with his wife shortly.

—The week of prayer is being generally observed and the attendance at the churches each night is very large. The singing is first-class and a most enjoyable feature of the meetings.

—Murphy, the great temperance orator, who believes that moral suasion is better for the cause nearest his heart than prohibition, will hold forth in the Moody tabernacle in Louisville.

—Rev. Dr. Emil G. Hirsch has been elected by his congregation on Fifth Avenue, New York City, for the term of 10 years at a salary of $12,000, or an annuity of $20,000.

—Rev. Green Clay Smith's protracted meeting at Glasgow closed Monday night, says the Times, with the baptizing of 41 converts. The meeting has been one of the most successful and interesting in the church's history, between 60 and 70 persons professing during the services.

—At the prayer meeting Tuesday night Bro. John Bell Gibson illustrated the point that it was essential to watch as to pray by telling that on one occasion when Raccoon John Smith and a Methodist preacher stopped with a family to spend the night, the host set out two glasses of whisky. The Methodist before partaking snatched his lips and closing his eyes proceeded to give thanks. When he opened them he discovered that Raccoon John had drunk both glasses while he prayed without "watching." There was an audible smile among the audience, which was struck with the pointedness of the illustration.
